

by Mick Forgey

View Author Profile

Join the Conversation

Send your thoughts to Letters to the Editor. Learn more

September 19, 2019

Share on FacebookShare on TwitterEmail to a friendPrint

Our team of copy editors reads and posts most of what you see on the websites for National Catholic Reporter and Global Sisters Report (the NCR project focusing on women religious). The Copy Desk Daily highlights recommended news and opinion articles that have crossed our desks on their way to you.

Intergenerational solidarity: Elders join youth in climate strikes: "They're loud and they're persistent," Sr. Mary Pendergast says of young people. "They're going to make this happen. People of my generation are not going to make it happen. They're still doing business as usual, in spite of all of the evidence that we are in a catastrophe."

Fr. Paul Offu is one of three priests who have been killed this year in Nigeria. After Offu's death on Aug. 1, his fellow priests took to the streets in protest: Nigerians seek security after killing of priests.

Cokie Roberts: trailblazing journalist, Catholic citizen, 'the real deal': Executive editor Tom Roberts remembers "a wonderful public Catholic, someone for whom faith was so obviously an influence in her relentless pursuit of the truth but also in her broad embrace of humanity and, indeed, of other faiths."

Sr. Helen Prejean knows how change happens. So, amid the injustices of the United States and the Catholic Church, she sees hope. From NCR Bertelsen intern Jesse Remedios: 'All about the waking-up': Helen Prejean shares hope with Georgetown audience.

Sr. Ilia Delio's 'Birth of a Dancing Star' memoir is about discovering God in the chaos of life: Nichole Carrubba finds within Delio's memoir "beautiful language that is imbued with a love of God and in a voice that is quintessentially Catholic."

Advertisement

*Want to keep updated with the latest news from the National Catholic Reporter?
Sign up here for news updates by email — including one that will send you Copy Desk Daily every Monday through Friday.*